THE WAFFLE HOUSE MURDER CASE

Smothered, covered and dead.

The head of the largest chain of Waffle Houses has been murdered. He has ex-wives, ex-girlfriends, ex-business partners, ex-friends, ex-associates, ex-neighbors, ex-employees and ex-acquaintances. None of who are sorry that he is dead. The challenge is... who done it? Who laced his side order of sausage links with cyanide? The motives are plenty. Jealousy, greed, envy, hate, guilt, spurned love, jilted love, abandonment, business dealings, business cheatings, insults, injuries, disrespect and just plain meanness are just a few of the motives that the suspects possess.

Many audience parts highlight this murder mystery. Parts are handed out before the show and guests are cued when to stand and deliver their Oscar Award Winning performance. Guests will create songs, TV commercials and work as individual teams to discover who killed The King of the Waffle House franchises. At the end of the show, one lucky guest will be secretly handed a part that will be their heart-wrenching confession. Followed by the announcement of winning teams(s) and the awarding of prizes.
